Correspondence Presented to the Joint Meeting of the Select and Common Councils of the City of Allegheny, April 15, 1867.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
ALLEGHENY, April 15, 1867.

To the President of the Select Council:—I received on Thursday last from our highly esteemed townsman, General Robinson, a letter addressed to the Mayor in congratulation on the successful resistance made to the project of consolidation.

The writer of this letter has shown a more zealous, active interest in this matter than any other person, young or old; has resisted it with the ardor and energy of youth, and considering that he has been far more than eighty years the tenant of our soil, the first native born of Anglo-Saxon stock among all the millions now between the rivers Ohio, Allegheny and the Lakes, born within our city bounds on what was then a hunting ground and wilderness, we find that he has strong claims to our attention and respect than it is possible for any other man to show; born before the separate existence of this county, older than the charter of either city, he has witnessed our growth, and seen such changes among us as can be compared only by the pioneers of the American West; identified with the interests of our city from the very start, always prominent in every progressive movement, and standing high in the community for integrity and talent, he now stands up stoutly to maintain our corporate existence, our chartered privileges, and the name which is borne alike by mountain, river, county, and our city.

I cannot deem anything touching the material interests of Allegheny, and especially on the subject of consolidation, coming from such a source, worthy of your official notice, and therefore ask the privilege of laying the letter referred to before your honorable bodies. JOHN MORRISON,
Mayor.

[COPY.]
ALLEGHENY, April 11, 1867.

John Morrison, Esq., Mayor, &c.—DEAR SIR: The prompt and vigorous action of our Councils in relation to the consolidation project, has secured the independence of Allegheny for years to come, and saved us from the disgraceful stain of incapacity in the management of our municipal affairs, which would undoubtedly have attached to us in the event of the passage of the Bill without referring it to the vote of our citizens.

It was a gratifying feature in the movement of our city legislators that it was carried with entire unanimity, carrying with it its convictions by sending an able delegation to Harrisburg, headed by the Congress of 1860 we have no unfaithful representatives in our Councils who, though sworn to fidelity to the Constitution, were plotting like Jeff. Davis and others in the Congress of the nation the overthrow of the Constitution and the rule of treason over the nation under a government whose corner stone was to be slavery.

I not a casuist in criminal jurisprudence, but in my humble judgment had there been such cases in our councils it would have been a moral abnegation of the solemn responsibility assumed on taking their seats, and unworthy the trust reposed in them by the people of this city.

I think you can bear testimony to some of my efforts to promote the welfare of Allegheny. It would therefore be a sorry spectacle to witness so many of the people to elect a chief magistrate, and that you were to be the last Mayor of Allegheny, had the measure proposed by Pittsburgh Trade been fastened upon us. But having been spared the humiliation designed for us, that you may live to see many successors to the Mayoralty is the fervent desire of your friend, WM. ROBINSON, JR.

Mr. Hall moved that the communication be spread at large on the minutes and published with the proceedings of Councils.

The motion passed unanimously.

D. D. MACFERRON,
Clerk of Select Council.

The Smoking Nuisance

It seems that the man who smokes in an omnibus is not a peculiarly American institution. In an English railway car, a short time since, an individual who persisted in smoking a cigar, after he had been requested not to do so, was summarily ejected by the conductors. The indignant smoker caused the arrest of one of his assailants and charged him with assault and battery. The magistrate before whom the case was tried decided that the smoker had given sufficient provocation for the assault, and he was doubtful if he ought not to look him up for assault and battery in puffing smoke in other people's faces. The passengers did just right in ejecting the filthy smoker, and the only fault that can be found with the magistrate was that he did not act upon the hint that he threw out, and hold the smoker for his offence against decency and the clear rights of his fellow passengers. Men have a right to smoke Macaco, just as they have a right to drink whisky, but they have no more right to fill with smoke the air that all must breathe in common, than they have the right to empty the contents of their liquor flasks into the water cooler in the car for all the passengers to common must drink from. To quote from the printed notices in our own Germantown railroad cars, "Gentlemen will, and others must" desist from smoking in promiscuous assemblages of people where all have rights that smokers are bound to respect. The assault and battery idea of the English magistrate is good.—Phil. Bulletin.

—A venerable Vehicle.—In a livery stable at Saginaw, is a coach which formerly belonged to General Cass, and which is probably the oldest carriage in the State. It was purchased by General Cass in France, and by him brought to the United States. Before the introduction of railways he journeyed twice from Detroit to Washington in it, the journey at that time being the labor of weeks. During the last ten years of the General's life it was used but little, but recently being brought from a relative of the General, into whose hands it had passed, it has been repaired and constitutes a commodious and comfortable vehicle.

UNITED STATES SENATE.

Discussion on Adjournment.

TIME EXTENDED TILL THURSDAY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 16, 1867.

The President appointed Messrs. Buckalew, Anthony and Trumbull a Special Committee on Mr. Buckalew's resolution relative to reports for the press.

Mr. Fessenden called up Mr. Anthony's motion to extend the time for adjournment till to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Sumner moved to substitute Thursday.

Mr. Howe maintained that the President would send improper nominations here which the Senate could not confirm, and if offices were left open, the President was to blame.

Mr. Cameron believed the President did not intend to send here any but the worst men for offices. He was willing to adjourn to-day and let the responsibility rest on the President.

Mr. Chandler wished to correct the misapprehensions that copperheads and traitors would be confirmed, as intimated by several Senators.

Mr. Fessenden was not aware of such intimation, until this moment. Not a word from Senator from Michigan. He supposed the Senator would name them.

Mr. Chandler replied that he alluded to Senator Fessenden.

Mr. Fessenden said he repelled the remark with the contempt and scorn it deserved, and argued it was the duty of the Senate to stay here until all vacancies were filled. He had never made such a remark as charged.

Mr. Chandler said he had followed Mr. Fessenden as his leader, but he now desired to state he would never vote to confirm copperheads and traitors.

Mr. Drake did not consider it the duty of the Senate to stay here to act upon the repeated nominations which have been repeatedly rejected.

Mr. Davis claimed that from the commencement of the session till now the President always had the right to nominate whom he pleased, provided they were competent and honest, but he now rule had been insisted on here, that all nominees should be radical Republicans.

Mr. Yates dissented from the views of Mr. Davis, declaring that, as the radicals were triumphant in the elections, their offices should be filled by such persons.

The Senate passed a resolution to adjourn on Thursday at 4 o'clock, and went into Executive session.

APPEAL FOR THE IMPERIALISTS.

Subpœna in the Georgia Case.

SLAVE EMANCIPATION ANNIVERSARY

NOMINATIONS REJECTED

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 16, 1867.

UNITED STATES OF COLUMBIA AFFAIRS SETTLED.

General Sol Gar, Minister from the United States of Columbia to this country, has received important dispatches, dated March 17th, stating that the difficulties between President Mosquera and the Congress, which gave rise to the supposition of a coup d'etat, have been satisfactorily arranged by the two branches of the Government, and the public as well as commercial affairs have resumed their former conditions.

APPEAL FOR MAXIMILIAN.

After the Senate had to-day voted to go into executive session, Mr. Johnson rose to introduce a resolution, but it was declared not in order, owing to the fact above stated. The resolution, it is said, recites various points in Mexican affairs and concludes with an expression somewhat in the way of an appeal to the Liberal government in behalf of Maximilian and his army, should they fall into the hands of the troops of the usurper, or other words to that effect, in the efforts of the executive in same direction.

THE SUBPŒNA IN THE GEORGIA CASE.

The following is a copy of the subpœna ordered to be issued by the Supreme Court:

The State of Georgia, complainant, vs. Edwin M. Stanton, U. S. Grant, and John Pope, defendants in equity.

The President of the United States, to Edwin M. Stanton, U. S. Grant and John Pope, Greeting:

"For certain causes offered before the Supreme Court of the United States, holding jurisdiction in equity, you are hereby commanded that you be and appear in said Court, and notwithstanding any excuse, you be and appear before said Supreme Court, holding its session in said city, on the first Monday in December next, at the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia, being the present seat of the Government of the United States, to answer unto the bill of complaint of the State of Georgia, and in said Court exhibited against you. Hereof you are not to fail at your peril."

The subpœna was served at Grant's headquarters to-day.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

The fifth anniversary of the emancipation of slaves in the District of Columbia, was celebrated to-day by the colored people. Owing to a storm the original programme was not carried out. A few delegations from other cities were present. Not over one thousand five hundred participated in the procession.

RECONSIDERING NOMINATIONS.

A reconsideration was moved in the senate, in executive session, on the vote of yesterday, by which the nomination of Col. Chapman, of Illinois, eighth auditor, Brownville, Nebraska, to-day, knocking a hole in the hull of the latter and sinking her. Loss not stated.

NOMINATIONS REJECTED.

All the following nominations were rejected:

Postmasters—Joseph D. Moore, Bloomington, Indiana; William H. D. Taylor, Cincinnati.

Secretary of Colorado Territory, Marshall F. Moore, of Ohio.

United States Consul, O. B. Clarke, of Michigan, at Masenillo.

Surveyor of Customs, Daniel P. Allen, at Quincy, Illinois.

MILITARY ASSIGNMENTS.

Brevet Major General Charles R. Woods has been assigned to the command of the General Service Department, at Newport Barracks, Kentucky, and Brevet Major General A. S. Worth, Assistant Quartermaster, has been assigned to the Department of LIGHT BREAKING.

All accounts from the South, through whatever channel devised, agree in representing that the Military Government Act is producing most beneficial consequences. The people of all classes understand what is to be done, and a very general disposition is evinced to do it, with as little delay as possible.

A private letter from Alabama, written by a gentleman who is in every respect advantageously situated for forming a correct judgment, is now before us, in which this strange expression is used:

"In matters of re-construction we have reached a firm foundation. Our feet stand on solid ground. The North is going on rapidly. We are safe now in doing anything that is right and just. The change is beyond all expectation. The bitterest enemies of the Government feel now that there is no use in standing out longer. These are joyous days for us."

We have in hand, also, a letter written from Alabama by a black man, in a style of penmanship and composition which a very large proportion of the white men, even of the North, cannot equal. He says:

"Let a Northern man picture to himself, if he can, a nation 'groping in darkness,' and he can then form an idea of the condition of the colored people of the South. They are ignorant—oh! how ignorant. But there is a cheering fact connected with their ignorance. They feel it, and want to learn.

"The blacks are 'crowding' the poor whites. This latter will have soon to resign themselves. The war revolutionized the whole South. The whites have not yet recovered from the terrible shock of war and devastation. The poor whites are standing with mouths agape waiting for their former rich white masters 'to do something.' Neither class of whites is putting forth well directed efforts to resuscitate the country. With the blacks how different! What to the whites was destruction and woe, was to the blacks the golden opportunity; the day of jubilee. They sprang to the plow and the hoe, grasping them with free hands, while their quondam masters looked on with a stare which asked 'What does it all mean?' They are just beginning to learn what it means; that the inspiration is freedom; and that every man is to have an equal chance in the race of life.

"If the colored people of the country rise—and they will rise—it will be by their devotion to, and dependence on, three things, viz: industry, education and religion.

No reasonable doubt exists of the accuracy of both these autographic statements. The mass of the Southern people are sincerely desirous of getting out of the existing complication. The more prominent of the military leaders of the rebellion are manifesting a commendable spirit, acquiescing in the conditions imposed by Congress as not only reasonable, but mild, and counselling all who listen to them to make no delay in accepting them. Some of the old politicians, of the baser sort, resort to the former tactics of inflaming the popular resentments, and exciting hopes that the national government can yet be safely defied. The Democratic success in Connecticut gave these malcontents a slight advantage, but it was transient, and has already subsided.

The conduct of the blacks has, on the whole, been admirable. Not but exceptions, and in considerable numbers, exist among them. Nothing less could reasonably have been anticipated. But the bulk of them have shown a disposition to commend themselves by sobriety, industry and studiousness to the confidence of the whites. They are making progress which augurs well for the future. Some of them have evinced singular aptitude for business, and have already acquired enviable competencies. Vast numbers are intent upon mastering the rudiments of education, and are succeeding more largely than the poor whites. With the full establishment of the right of suffrage in their behalf, they will take a fresh start, and wisely led, as we trust they may be, put themselves in a position to command and enjoy a much fuller measure of prosperity and respect than has ever fallen to the lot of an equal number of their race, in any portion of the globe.

TWO MARRIAGES.*

The good name of the fair authoress, Miss MULOCH, is too well established by such works as "John Halifax, Gentleman;" "Christian's Mistake;" "Life for a Life," etc., to need any eulogy as a writer; the mere announcement of her name on the title page of a book being sufficient. The work before us is gotten up in elegant style, presenting a dainty appearance, unlike the publications of a similar character in former years. Harpers, however, are among the progressive school of publishers, and as might be expected they are keeping abreast with the age. The two stories, "John Bowerbank's Wife," and "Parson Garland's Daughter," inculcate moral lessons for the parents of marriagable children, which it would be well were more widely known than may be attained by the circulation of this volume. The one illustrates how a young woman's life was sacrificed by the unnatural course of a severe father, crushing, in fact, two hearts by his ruthless policy. The other story, sad enough in many respects, is portrayed in language simple, yet chaste, full of pathos, which thrills the heart of the reader and fills him with tender emotions. It shows how a great wrong, which had been committed on a poor thoughtless girl, by an only son, was so tenderly and wisely managed by his venerable father, the good old "Parson Garland" that his erring boy was rescued from a fate too frequently the result of a fatal step, and the young woman, poor, ignorant, and gross, under the Parson's wise counsels and strict tutorage, was made rich in all womanly graces, wise, refined, beautiful in person, and a mind highly cultured. It is not often stories of this kind can be safely recommended to all readers, especially to young persons, but "Parson's Garland's Daughter," deserves, and doubtless will obtain a wide circulation. While the interest of the story hangs on a case of seduction, yet its character is wholly unlike the sensational stuff which fills so many of the so-called literary papers of the day. All through it there is a vein of the highest moral tone, inculcating lessons of the most valuable character to the young and experienced of both sexes. Let such works circulate freely, and the woof of society will show a healthier texture in its construction, than the nanby-panbyism so prevalent now-a-days in fashionable life.

—An experiment of making gas from peat has been tried at Glenn Falls, New York. It resulted in obtaining from 115 pounds of dried peat, 734 feet of gas, or five feet and 80-100 of gas to the pound, while from the best coal used at the works the yield of gas does not exceed four feet and 40-100 to the pound.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

A Glance at the Parisian Workmen—Customs at Havana—Favorite Wedding Days in England and Scotland—Anecdote of a Generous Nobleman—A Russian Bad Bath.

The Parisian workmen is a curiosity. The best tempered fellow in the world, and withal, I verily believe the hardest worked. Sunday brings to him no relaxation. He gains, perhaps, five francs per day, when our host-carriers are paid double that sum, and any mechanic gains treble. He rises at dawn (if he does not belong to the night-birds,) and works on an empty stomach until nine o'clock, when he repairs to the nearest baker's shop, buys a roll of bread, then goes to the humble restaurant adjoining for a morsel of meat and a glass of wine, ing for a morsel of meat and a glass of wine, and he and his companions take their repast in the merriest manner. Meantime, madame and the ladies are providing for their wants by themselves at home. At noon, perhaps, this ouvrier finds time to take what in New England is called a "bite," and at six in the evening he dines. Many thousands of the workmen in Paris are obliged to keep hard at work evenings at gas enough to live. Wages are shockinkly low. There is no justice in these humble prices for labor. One-third of meat costs five sous, and the cost of bread is more than it was a month ago. The exhibition rush is now giving prices a lift. What man and the children will do by and by is a problem. The French, like the Irish, workman, will marry and bring the family circle around him. More honest, and unsophisticated in wickedness than his brother Parisians of higher rank, he does not know of liaisons and Paris grisette lore so much as he might had he more leisure, and he one day finds himself without sufficient resources. Then his children supply the market of vice. This is simply the first sacrifice. But that is the inside of the picture, and analysis disgusts and discourages. To the casual observer the workman seems merry, even contented. The amusements he can afford are humble, but he enters into them with a zest that American workmen would imitate, if they were wise. Activity is the soul of a Frenchman. One never sees Jean and his comrades sit for long hours in a wine shop as do Americans and Englishmen over their pipes and beer. I vow to you I never saw a sadder sight than the smoking room of an English public house, nor a merrier than a workman's cafe in Paris in the evening.—Paris Letter, March 15.

A LETTER from Havana says: "The ladies here do not wear anything on their heads. You think at home that our ladies wear next to nothing, but the bonnets worn by our partly attracted Havana women, are more than they wear at all worn, that the ladies feel it a great annoyance to be so stared at, and have taken the veil, which is all this is worn. The Havana ladies do not go out till evening, and then they come out in their carriages to the plaza, or on the drives, to hear the music. The children seen growing up about the streets, like weeds by the wayside, uncared for and little observed. We notice them from six months to six years old, as naked as when they came into the world. This is among the lower classes, but you can see them at any time of the day on any all of the streets of this city, or standing in the doors and windows. The natives seem to smoke all the time. They come into the dining-room after breakfast, and the first thing after they sit down to the table is to take out a cigar, light it, order the breakfast, smoke and eat. You will often see at our first-class hotels from twenty to thirty men sitting at the table smoking, while ladies are sitting at the same table. I find that Americans pick up the habit quite readily.

The latest reports of the Registrars General of England and Scotland, show that no two nations could differ more widely than do the English and the Scotch with regard to the choice of days of the week for marriage. The Scottish report states that the favorite day for marriage in Scotland is the last day of the year, provided it does not fall on a Saturday or Sunday. No marriages are celebrated on Sunday in Scotland, while in England it is the favorite day of the week for marriage, thirty-two per cent. of the marriages being contracted on that day. Monday is a favorite day in both countries. Saturday, in England, is the third day of the week in order of selection for marriage, seventeen per cent. occurring on that day; but in Scotland, no true Scot will marry on a Saturday, nor, indeed, begin any work of importance. With the Scot, Saturday is an unlucky day for marriage, and he is impressed with a superstitious belief that if he married on a Saturday, one of the parties would die before the year expires, or that, if both survived, the marriage would prove unfruitful. Hence it happens that Sunday and Saturday, the two favorite days for marriage in England, are blank days for marriage in Scotland. Friday is the day on which the English do most marry, but in Scotland it is one of the favorite days.

A PARIS paper tells the following anecdote of Lord Gray, of Gray, whose death has caused so much regret in the English society of that capital: Lord Gray was one evening retiring from his club, when he perceived the loss of his pocketbook, containing forty bank notes of 1,000f each, (£1,600.) Lord Gray searched the pockets of his great coat, but in vain. He quietly returned home. Next morning his servant went to his room at an early hour and informed him that a lady in deep mourning wished to speak to him. Lord Gray desired that she should be shown into his drawing room. "My Lord," said his visitor, "you dropped your pocketbook containing 40,000f; I bring it back to you." The voice was sweet and low, but so closely was the lady veiled that it was impossible to guess her age or appearance. "Madame," replied Lord Gray, "you have rendered me a service for which I heartily thank you. Allow me to ask if I may venture to offer you some remembrance of my gratitude." The lady then consented, but she had recently lost her husband, whose death had left her the charge of three little children, and that so utter was her destitution she had not even been tempted to keep the pocketbook. Lord Gray returned it to her, merely saying, "You are my creditor—you or your children will repay me later." Lord Gray received a visitor five years after this scene occurred, who appeared a total stranger to him. It was a lady. She handed him a velvet portemonnaie, on which his cypher and coronet were embroidered in gold; within lay forty notes of 1,000f. "You will allow me to retain the old purse in memory of your munificent generosity," she remarked.

The following is from a Russian letter: "There is at Tchokrak a small curative establishment. It is a kind of shanty, containing a dining room and a kitchen, a few cells, each large enough to hold an exceedingly small bed and one chair, a shed with a few tubs, and a huge caidron to warm water. Outside toward the lake is a long corridor open to the lake, but sheltered by a wooden roof from the sun. It is divided into two parts by a partition, separating the ladies' from the gentlemen's quarter. There are planks enabling the bather to traverse the long slope of slippery mud between the bath house and the water, and this is very necessary, as there is no foothold, and when wet, the mud could not be walked over without falling. Such is the accommodation offered to the common bather. The baths alone are no doubt efficacious, for the water is not only salt, but is very rich in iodides and bromides. But it is the mud that those who resort to this lake chiefly look to. The mud baths, simple as they are, certainly should be efficacious. The bath is a box of rough deal, of the size and shape of a coffin. This box is filled with thick, hot muk, so nearly dry that the weight of the body will only sink very slightly into it. The patient lies upon it, and an attendant then covers him up with a foot of fresh mud, which is firmly compacted around him, so that no part is exposed but the face. All this is done in the open air, in a broiling sun. A small pent-house is arranged to shade the face, and the patient is left to steep in himself. He is thus buried alive, and parboiled for a period varying from half an hour to an hour and a half. In an atmosphere of stifling heat, redolent with rotton eggs, in a close-fitting case of exceedingly stiff mud, in association, perhaps, with half a dozen other victims, ranged side by side, close together, he awaits his cure—and surely he deserves it. When the time is up, and the baked crust of mud is broken, he is found floating. He is then removed to a warm bath, and it is said that he comes out clean. At any rate he is hungry. He has been stared in his own juices, whatever they may be, and when the meal time arrives he is enabled to do justice to the food provided, which, according to the specimen I have enjoyed, was rather superior to that generally obtained at Russian hotels of the second order. The bones from which the patients have been taken retain perfectly the whole form of the body, almost as if it had been intended to take a cast from them in plaster of Paris. The mud requires to be removed and is replaced with a fresh supply the next day.

QUEEN ISABELLA II. of Spain is described as thirty-seven years old, of over middling size, very fat, has light brown hair, small round eyes of a water-blue color, a short, turned-up nose, a finely formed mouth, a Bourbonic double chin, colossial bust and arms, an imposing figure, and when smiling or in lively conversation, makes a rather pleasing impression. With all her corpulence, she is of a sickly constitution, and suffers frequently from a painful eruption, especially upon her arms, which obstinately baffles all medical science. She appears to advantage when sitting or standing than when walking, her gait being of that peculiar rolling manner which characterized that of Louis XVI. She is the daughter of Ferdinand VII., one of the most reprobate princes, and of Christine, sister of the late King Bomba of Naples.

THE TURKISH PROVINCE of Bulgaria, which contains a population almost one hundred of four millions of souls who have remained faithful to the Greek Church, but have preserved but little of the warlike spirit of their ancestors, attracts at the present moment attention from its being, with Thessaly and Epirus, the principal seat of the movement directed against the sovereignty of the Porte. The National Committee in that province has just addressed to the Sultan a petition expressing the desires and complaints of the population. The wants of the people are summarized in the following manner:

"Let the Sultan deign to consolidate forever the ties which attach Bulgaria to his religious autonomy of the country based on a liberal constitution, and let him add to his title that of King of the Bulgarians."

A GERMAN paper describes Count Bismarck thus:—"His speeches are very ungrating. When excited he loses the thread of his discourse, and not unfrequently commits faults of grammar and construction. But there is an epigrammatic incisiveness in his short, sharp sentences, and a picturesqueness in his style which go far to redeem his defects. His wit is very remarkable. He is very sensitive to attack, especially since he has been suffering from his present nervous disorder, and his late altercation with Herr von Munchausen, is said to have aggravated this complaint. In the North German Parliament he invariably appears in the uniform of the Landwehr cavalry, while in the Prussian Parliament he attended in ordinary civil dress."

A Sand and Rain Storm.

It is a popular mistake which supposes rain never falls in Upper Egypt. Heavy rains fall in Alexandria. Now and then in Cairo there is a good shower. In Upper Egypt it rains perhaps as frequently as it hails in Ohio.

The storm referred to occurred on the afternoon of the day we left Thebes. The wind was blowing from the northwest, and we had been tacking against it, in a reach of the river leading to the west, until, it having become too strong for us, we anchored in the middle of the river. Presently, looking to the northwest, I observed dark clouds gathered on the summits of the mountains, and remarked that at home I should predict a thunder storm. Rapidly these clouds rose and diffused themselves, until the greater part of the sky was obscured. Soon the collected winds let loose, spread themselves over the plain to the west of us, whisking the sand from every spot, and sweeping it in a sheet from one side of the river to the other. Then commenced falling great rain drops, continuing until our decks were well wetted. Our boat rode out the storm without harm, although danger was apprehended even by our experienced Reis. The dragoman, whose courage, however, is never great, except when the occasion for it is small, "never see such a storm on de Niles," while the Reis, when the storm struck us, was well nigh frantic, was well nigh frantic, raving and clapping his hands. Probably he regarded the storm as the work of some "djinn" or "afrita," and his superstitious fears an Arab, for the time, overcame his sense of responsibility as commander of the Dahabiyeh, "Nightingale."—Correspondence Cin. Gazette.

A VERY FAIR JOKE.—An exchange says that Mr. Wendell Phillips was recently invited to lecture at Mount Pleasant, Illinois, and on reaching the town was met by the secretary of the Lecture Association, who informed him that the people could not decide which they most wished to hear—the lecture on the "Lost Arts," or that on "The Perils of the House." Mr. Phillips was ready to deliver either, but the secretary gravely proposed that he should deliver both! The lecturer thought it a pity to spoil a good joke, consented; and beginning with "The Lost Arts," gracefully glided into "The Perils of the Hour," occupying three or four hours, and entirely satisfying his hearers.

DR. CHASSIER'S EMPRESS.

LA COMPOSITION IMPERATRICE, POUR LES CHEVEUX.

It has long been known that the hair, by mental exertion, by excitement, by disease, and in perfect circulation, loses its vitality, turns gray and falls off. That eminent Parisian chemist, Dr. CHASSIER, has provided a complete antidote, and at the same time a beautiful dressing for the hair, during the period of change. Remember, this is the finest article for the toilet that has ever been presented to the public.

IT IS NOT A DYE.

It will not soil the finest linen. It will not gum the hair. It is free from the disagreeable smell of sulphur. It relieves the scalp of dandruff or unpleasant irritation. Prevents the hair from falling off, even after fever. Causes the new hair to grow. It will restore, in a few days, natural color, or the money will be refunded in every instance.

As this preparation is comparatively new in this country, the proprietors present the testimonials of well known persons as to its excellence. Directions in French and English.

A TIMELY WARNING.

It is especially important at this time, when the markets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors, and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are heralded to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should fully understand the fact. Be it known, then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a fiery article containing fusil oil, a morbid poison, HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye with the pure juices of the most valuable stomachic, antibilious and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsia and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authenticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life. Beware of imitations and imposters.

PINUS ABIES, OR CANADA PINE.

There exudes from the inside bark of the White Pine, which grows abundantly in all the Eastern States and Canada, a honey-like, sweet substance, highly imbued with that terebinthate principle which has long been valued as a remedy, in various diseases of the human system especially those of the mucous tissues. Dr. G. W. Sweet, of Boston, has compounded from this material a medicine called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND; which has met with great favor in those maladies where the turpentines and balsams are supposed to be valuable.

For Gravelly Affections.
Diabetes in young or middle aged people.
Diabetes in old people.
Stoppage of the urine.
The same difficulty in children during the night.
Gravel, Kidney Trouble in old people.
Ulcerated Kidneys, Ulcerated Bladder.
Discharge of mucus, or pus, or blood from the bladder.
Bright's Disease of the Kidneys,
Pain in the Kidneys or small or the back.
Pain in the bladder, Heat and Scalding, &c.,

Poland's White Pine Compound will be found speedy and permanent cure. It is no less to be valued as a general and bracing constitutional tonic, which imparts its health-giving principles to all the tissues of the body, without sickening or weakening the system in any way, or disturbing any one in his usual avocations.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

OFFICE OF THE PACIFIC & ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH CO. OF THE UNITED STATES,
Pittsburgh, April 17, 1867.

THE PACIFIC AND ATLANTIC Telegraph Company of the United States have contemplated, from the period of its organization, the bringing about such a reduction in the rates of long telegraphic messages as would enable the commercial public to enjoy the facilities of the telegraph for the transmission of letters, thereby causing the telegraph to take, to a large extent, the place of the mail.

This reduction they have developed, and would announce that their wires are now open to the public to all points where night operators are employed, for the transmission of messages after six o'clock p. m., at the following rates: Twenty words or less, same as ten words previous to that hour; more than twenty words and not exceeding sixty, twice the usual rate for ten words; and for each and not exceeding one hundred and twenty words, three times the usual rate for ten words; and for each additional one hundred words, or any part thereof, the usual toll for ten words. A continuation of the same liberal patronage which has heretofore repaid the Company in its efforts to benefit the public, is asked.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1867.

An Article for Mothers—The Croupy Season.

In the early part of spring many children die of croup, which is simply a common cold settling itself in the windpipe and spending all its force there. Why it should tend to the throat in them, rather than to the lungs as in some grown persons, and to the head of others, giving one man influenza, another pleurisy, a third inflammation of the lungs, and a fourth some lower form of fever, is not so important as to know the causes of croup and the means of avoiding it. The very sound of a croupy cough is perfectly terrible to any mother who has ever heard it once. In only forty-eight hours it may carry a child from perfect health to the grave. Croup always originates in a cold, and in nine cases out of ten this cold is the result of exposure to dampness, either of the clothing or the atmosphere, most generally the latter, and particularly that form of it which prevails in thawy weather, when snow is on the ground, or about sundown in the early spring season. At mid-day the bright sun lures the children out of doors, and having been pent up all winter, a hilarity and a vigor of exercise are induced, much beyond what they have been accustomed to recently. They do not feel either tired or cold; but evening approaches, the cool of which condenses the moisture contained in the air. This rapidly abstracts the heat from the feet of the child, and with a doubly deleterious impression; for not only is the body cooled too quickly, but by reason of the previous exercises, it has been wearied, and has lost a great deal of its power to resist cold, hence the child is chilled. Excessive fatigue, or an unusual appetite, a hearty supper is taken, and in the course of the night the reaction of the cold of the evening before sets in and gives fever; the general system is oppressed, not only by the heavy meal, but by the inability of the stomach to digest it, and fever, oppression and exhaustion, all combined, very easily sap away the life of the child. In fact, it may yet be found, when the nature of diphtheria is better known, that it is a typhoid croup, malignant croup.

Children should be kept as warmly clad, at least until May, as in the depth of winter; they should not be allowed to remain out of doors later than sundown, when they should be brought into a warm room, their feet examined and made dry and warm, their suppers taken, and then sent to bed, not to go outside the doors until next morning after breakfast. During February, March, and until the middle of April, especially when snow is on the ground, children under eight years of age should not be allowed to be out of doors at all later than four o'clock in the afternoon, unless the sun is shining, or unless they are kept in bodily motion, so as to keep off a feeling of chilliness. We have never been afraid of croup, but that it must be a dreadful calamity. Young mothers seldom get over the loss of a first born. Surely, then, it is worth all the care suggested in this article to avert a calamity which is to be felt until we die. The commonest sense dictates the instant sending for a physician in case of an attack from croup, but the moment a messenger is dispatched, have three or four flannels, dip them in water as hot as your hands can bear, and apply them successively to the throat of the child, hot all the time, so as to evaporate the moisture, which, if retained, cause the clogging up inside which soons stops the breath. Hot water should constantly be added to that in which the flannels are thrown so as to keep it all the time hot. Keep the water from dripping on the clothing of the child, and see to it that the feet are dry and warm. Most likely the child will be out of danger before the physician arrives, and it is pleasant to be able to turn over the responsibility on him. Loose cough, freer breathing, and a copious discharge of phlegm indicate relief and safety.

Croup seldom comes on suddenly. Generally it has at first no other symptoms than those of a common cold, but the very moment the child is seen to carry his hand toward the throat, indicating discomfort there, it should be considered an attack of croup, and should be treated accordingly. When a child is sick of anything, no physician can tell where the sickness will end. So it is with a cold; it may appear to be a very slight one indeed, still it may end fatally in croup, putrid sore throat, or diptheria. The moment a mother observes croupy symptoms in a child from two to eight years old, be especially croupy and, she should keep the child in her own room, by her own side, day and night, not allowing it for a moment to go outside of the doors. Keeping it comfortably warm, so that no chilliness nor draft of air shall come over it.

Light food should be eaten, no meats or hot bread or berries. The whole body, the feet especially, should be kept warm all the time. Rubbing twenty drops of sweet oil into the skin over the breast patiently with the hand, two or three or more times a day, often gives the most marked relief to a cold, thus preventing croup. Such a course promptly pursued will promptly cure almost any cold a child will take, and will seldom fail to ward off croup. In a day or two, what would otherwise have been a fatal attack of croup, with its ringing, hissing, barking sound, and its unsay apprehensive, and labored breath, none of which can ever be mistaken when once heard. Many a sweet child is lost thus, the parents are aroused at the dead of night with a cough that suggests croup; but it seems to pass off, and in the morning they wake up with a feeling of thankful deliverance from a bodding ill. The child runs about all day as if perfectly well; but the next night the symptoms are more decided, and on the next night the child dies; but this wound have been averted with great certainty, if from the first night, the child had been kept in a warm room, warmly clad, the bowels had been kept free, and nothing had been eaten but toast, with tea, or gruel, or stewed fruits.

A "Cracksman" on His Travels—He Studies Law in Pittsburgh.

The New Albany (Indiana) Ledger, of the 13th inst., reports the arrest of a man who was once arrested in Cincinnati, on the charge of petit larceny, and upon whose person was found a bunch of burglar's keys, several forged checks, and various other suspicious papers. Among the papers was a song book, on the fly-leaf of which was written the following: "My right name is Henry Javan Salisbury. I have two uncles, by the name of H. H. and Samuel Jesup, who are missionaries to Syria. My grandfather is the Hon. William Jesup, LL. D., who was either President or Vice President of the American Board of Foreign Missions. He resides at Montrose, Susquehanna county, Pennsylvania. If I am killed the person who finds this will do me a favor by sending word to my relatives. My father's name is Colonel J. R. Salisbury. He was on General Sigel's and General Milroy's staffs during the war. He was residing, when last heard from, at No. 341 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Will, Moylert is the name I go under now. I have 'shoved' a good deal of 'queer' during my day, and 'cracked' many a house."

This memorandum was no doubt written under the impression that he might be killed while attempting to "crack" a house. In another memorandum he claims to have studied law in Mr. Ewing's office, in Pittsburgh, having left here a few weeks ago for St. Louis. He stopped in Louisville, however, where he doubtless ran short of money. He put up at the National Hotel, but left there after getting in debt and being unable to pay his bill. His baggage was retained by the proprietor, to whom he wrote a letter, begging the return of a package containing tobacco, as he was "a dear lover of the weed." The authorities of New Albany having received information sufficient to satisfy them that Salisbury, alias Meylert, is a forger, counterfeiter and burglar, telegraphed to the cashier of one of our city banks, upon which he forged a check, and also to the Chief of Police, notifying them that he had Salisbury in custody and subject to their orders.

Patent Fire Extinguisher.

In Cincinnati, Saturday last, a trial of a new patent fire extinguisher took place in the presence of the Board of Underwriters, city officers, and members of the fire department. The apparatus consists of a sheet iron can, made of various sizes, containing from five to ten gallons. Inside of this can is a small tube that contains some ingredients for generating gases that will effectually extinguish a flame. When the gas is generated, the pressure on the interior of the can amounts to considerables, as the water absorbing the created gas expands it to about twenty times its original volume. A rubber pipe is attached to the can, and a small nozzle is attached to the end of the rubber pipe. By turning a cock at the side of the can, to which the pipe is connected, a stream of the gaseous contents of the apparatus can be thrown to a distance of about forty feet, and in quantity sufficient to extinguish a large fire. Straps are attached to the can, and it can be slung to a person's back or shoulders, and can readily and almost instantaneously be transported from place to place. The apparatus may be prepared and stand ready for action for years, and at the end of that period will be ready for instant use, and will be just as effective as on the day when it was first made ready.

The Cincinnati Commercial says it worked very successfully. Tar barrels containing shavings saturated with naptha were ignited to the fiercely blazing point, and in a few seconds the flames were completely extinguished by the little stream of gas and water from the can, about the size of a common water cooler. This experiment was several times repeated, so as to satisfy every observer of the success of the invention. The stream was thrown about fifty feet from a half-inch nozzle.

Forty-Eight Hours in a Day.

"We propose now to show," says the Scientific American, "that Monday, or any other week day, is forty-eight hours long; we mean that, during the whole of forty-eight hours, Monday is on the earth somewhere to be found. The Monday of this city is, of course, twenty-four hours long, but before and after our Monday there is Monday in some other quarter. When Monday begins in New York there have been three hours of Monday in London, and for three hours after our Monday ends there will be Monday in San Francisco. Thus, between these places Monday lasts eighteen hours. Now, in the dial line west at our antipodes, Monday would begin there twelve hours before ours, and end twelve hours after ours. Thus the space of forty-eight hours the earth is not rid of Monday. The fact may be illustrated in another way: suppose we are at the day line. Monday begins there, and in twenty-four hours, along comes Tuesday. But, just west (half an inch if you please,) Monday began only an instant before it ended east of the line. The Monday east of the line is twenty-four hours long, and west of the line is the same length, and, in all, Monday lasts forty-eight hours."

—In the Michigan town elections in twenty-two counties the Republicans gain five Supervisors.

Russian America.

The London Free Press takes a sober political view of the proposed transfer from Russia to the United States. It says:

"The cession of a large tract of territory lying in what has been known as Russian America to the United States Government is an occurrence not without its significance. Commercially speaking, the territory cannot be said to be very valuable, though modern discovery may yet prove it to be of no little consequence. But however this may be, it is from a political and territorial aspect that the matter becomes of great importance. The acquisition of a possession having a coast line of fifteen hundred miles, and running into the interior for a distance of one thousand miles in some places, in all nine hundred thousand square miles, in close proximity to the British territory, is an event which indicates a forecast of no little moment. So long as the immense tract, sixteen times as large as England, was held by Russia, the British possessions had for a neighbor a power not likely to agitate for enlargements in that direction. A kind of balance of power was maintained between the three occupants; but if the cession is concluded, of which there seems no doubt, the United States will have an overwhelming preponderance. * * * Every foot of ground gained by the States is a menace to other nations, but there is not so to the only power that now holds considerable territory on this continent besides themselves—England. France and the other European nations have a remote interest in the matter, but even to them the rapid accumulation of territory and power by the States must have its warning voice. The downfall of French influence in Mexico is an affair due to the machinations at Washington; but a few months the world may see a protectorate over Mexico on the part of the United States, which will be but the immediate prelude to occupation and annexation. This accomplished, and it will be seen grasping in its gigantic embrace the whole of the North American continent, save that which is comprised in Canada and the Northwest territory. To what this result may lead it is not easy to predict.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

HELMBOLD'S

Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Eradicates ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES of the THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN.

Which so disfigure the appearance. PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remains of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with the most wonderful affinity, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 16, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 134¼; Eighty-one bonds, 109¼; Five Twenties, 1862, 109¼; do, 1864, 108; Five Twenties, 1865, 108¼; Ten Forties,38; Seven Thirties,106; do 2d and 3d issue, 105¾; 5-20 Consols, '6 , 107¾. Michigan Southern Railroad, 66¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93¾; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 91½; Erie, 55; Chicago and Northwestern, 33; do preferred, 59; New York Central, 97½; Reading, 99¾.

Gold opened at 134¼, and under heavy orders from the West to sell, sold down to 134, but afterwards closed strong at 134¾. Bankers believe in a strong upward movement in gold, whether there will be war or not in Europe; parties who bought for a rise at 136½ will seek an opportunity to cover their losses,and they will find greater facilities in a well supplied money market. Foreign Exchange is dull, although firm. Railroad stocks have declined from 1¾ to 2¾ per cent. on yesterday's quotations. The advance from Thursday to Monday was sufficient to tempt weak holders to realize.

Local stocks are unchanged. Columbia oil, since the dividend is passed, is no longer inquired for. Triumph finds a few purchasers at current rates. Bank stocks are eagerly bought up, though they are far above their real value. Some Merchants National Telegraph stock sold at 18.

—There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the probable issue of the delicate relations between Prussia and France; the probabilities, however, are generally considered sufficiently threatening to warrant at the advance in the rate of money that has occurred; and until matters wear a more pacific aspect it would seem that no material decline in the price may be anticipated. The Sub-treasury continues its daily sales of gold to about the usual extent, showing no disposition to interfere with the fluctuations growing out of foreign affairs. The Treasury office is still funding 7-30s. The public debt schedule at the close of the present month will probably show from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 reduction in the 7-30 issue from the previous statement.

—The New York Tribune says: The banks of the Atlantic cities are in no condition to foster speculation, or to advance money upon new enterprises, and the country has not be too careful. These institutions are now expanded daily, "and, as a mass," operating outside the spirit of the National Banking law. What they call "reserve" are investments which they could not realize upon in any event. Many of the old banks of this city make statements which will bear examination, and carry them through any crisis; but it is equally true that there is a long list of "young and enterprising concerns" which, under the contraction policy of the Treasury,are liable at any moment to be thrown into utter confusion.

—The decline of cotton in the foreign market, together with the dull trade at home, are having a depressing influence on dry goods. Prices of all but the leading styles are weak, and the market still points to lower figures, though the jobbing houses continue fairly active. We see it stated that several leading houses at New York are retailing foreign goods at prices below the actual cost of transportion.

—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent. on the stock of the Main Stem, payable on the 30th inst. Also, a dividend of five per cent. on the Washington Branch, payable on the 16th of April, free of United States tax.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 16, 1867.

The produce markets were moderately active to-day, though there is still plenty room for improvement. The fact that some of our rolling mills have started up, and the lock-out is regarded as being at an end, will no doubt stimulate trade considerably within a short time; money will not be so tight, collections easier, and a large number of men will again find employment.

GRAIN—Nothing doing in Wheat. Corn is in demand and firm but unchanged; sale of 75 bush Ear, on wharf, at 61; car load Shelled at 61,00, and 500 bush Ear, to arrive, at 61. Oats steady but unchanged; sale of 36 sacks, on wharf, at 66—small sales in store, at 68 to 70. Rye is in demand at 1,50, and but little offering. No movement in Barley.

FLOUR—Is firm, with a steady local demand but unchanged. We quote at 6¼ to 6¼ for good to choice Spring Wheat; 6¼ to 6,6 for Winter Wheat; and 6,8 to 6,9 for fancy do. Lower Grades. Rye Flour is now quoted at 6,25 to 6,50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS — Bacon is steady and unchanged, at 10 for Shoulders; 13¾ to 13¾ for Clear Sides; 15¾ to 16 for Plain Sugar Cured, and 16¾ to 17 for Canvassed Hams. Corned Beef, 23. Lard, 13 to 13¾, and Mess Pork, 25,50.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is selling in small lots at 6,50 to 6,6. Timothy Seed is quiet and unchanged at 4,20 to 4,5. Flaxseed is in steady demand at 6,6.

BUTTER—The arrivals of fresh Roll Butter continue large, and with a supply somewhat in excess of the demand, prices are barely sustained. We quote prime fresh Roll at 33 to 35.

EGGS—In fair demand with regular sales at 23 to 24c.

ASHES—Pearls active and scarce; sales of 5 tons at 14c; also, 15 tons common Soda Ash at 9½c.

POTATOES—In better supply but as there is a continued fair demand, prices, as yet, are maintained—$1 per bushel for prime Peach Blows, in store. Sale of 1 car at 95c.

GREEN APPLES—Less active and under the influence of larger receipts, the market has a shade easier, though prices as yet, are unchanged—$5 to 6 per bbl.

HAY—Is quiet and unchanged—a small lot of river Hay sold on wharf at $24. Prime baled may be quoted at $25 to $26.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues dull but unchanged—small sales at 9c for Apples, and 14 to 18 for Peaches.

PIG LEAD—Sale of 200 pigs at 10¾.

LIME—Quoted at $1 per bbl.

OIL—No. 1 Lard, 90c; No. 1, $1,10.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 16, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was a little more active to-day, and, if anything, a shade stronger, though prices are without quotable change. We can report a sale of 700 bbls, on spot, at 7c; 2000 to be delivered between the 15th of April and the 1st of June, at 7c, which was subsequently resold at 7¼c; 1000 bbls for June delivery, at 7½c; 10,000 bbls to be delivered any time during the year 1867, buyer's option, at 9½c—sold on Monday evening. The arrivals continue large, running close on to 50,000 bbls during yesterday and to-day, yet, in the face of this the market holds up remarkably well, prices being higher than they were any one week since, and there seems to be a demand for all that is offered.

REFINED—There was not a single operation in bonded oil to-day, at least we had none reported, and while the market is apparently a little dull, prices have undergone no material change. Spot oil, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 26 for prime light straw to white, and 27 to 27¼ for standard white. The Philadelphia market is reported very quiet and dull, there being but little inquiry either for present or future delivery. Free oil is quiet and unchanged at 40 to 42.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 16, 1867.

CATTLE.

The market was a very dull one this week, notwithstanding the supply on sale was comparatively light, reaching only about five hundred head. There were but few foreign buyers in attendance, and the butchers, generally, for some reason or other, bought sparingly, notwithstanding the quality of the cattle was better than usual. So far as prices are concerned,there has been no material change, compared with last week. Prime to extra fat cattle sold at from 8½ to 9¼ gross; good at 8 to 8¼, and medium at 7 to 7¾. Stock cattle were in fair demand and steady, with sales to a fair extent at 5½ to 6¼ according to quality and condition.

SHEEP.

The supply of Sheep was also light this week, but as the demand was rather limited, prices have undergone no change compared with last week. We continue to quote prime to extra fat Sheep at 8 to 8¼ gross. Wm. Learvin sold a drove of pretty good wooled sheep at 8¼—averaged 101 pounds.

HOGS.

The market for this class of stock continues dull and neglected, though prices at these yards have undergone no essential change. Emerick & Co. report having retailed 100 head at 7¾ to 8¼ gross. (In New York, Hogs have declined to 6¾@7¾, and very dull.

REPORTED SALES OF CATTLE.

Glass & Lafferty sold 34 head of good Illinois steers at 7¼ to 9, 52 head of stock steers, at 5 to 6½; and 18 head of mixed Ohio cattle at 5 to 7¾. Blackstock & Hazlewood sold 51 head of Illinois cattle at 7¼ to 9. J. C. Dolen, 33 head at 7¼ to 9¼. Marks & Trautman, 123 at 6½ to 9. Verner & Hartman, 17 at 8 to 8,30. Merrick & Doud, 25; Kraus & Haas 68; L. Rothchilds, 22; Carr & McAllister, 20; also, some other small lots, the particulars of which we did not learn.

New York Financial Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 16.—The money market is very easy, at 5@6 on call. Prime discounts current, at 7@7½ per cent. The failure of an old and eminent cotton house was announced to-day. The liabilities are heavy and are understood to fall chiefly on New Orleans. Gold was heavy and lower in the forenoon, but closed firm. Loans were made from flat to 3-32 premium, buying closed weak, and some large amounts sold below quotations. Government issues were active but steady. Coupons; 5-20's of '62, 109¾@110; do of '65, new issue, 107½; 10 40's, 98@98⅝. The railway market opened lower, Erie falling to 54¾, followed Wm. Heath & Co. report the following by the balance of the list. At the first open board and Stock Exchange there was a slight advance, and after the regular call prices went up ½@1¼ per cent. This improvement was sustained, and before the 1 o'clock board, market all down to the lowest point of the day. Market firmer at that board, but subsequently lower. New York Central taking the lead and falling to 96¾. At the second board prices improved again, and remained steady at the last open board. The closing rates were lower, and the market closed heavy.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was about at a stand, apparently, last evening, with eight and a half feet in the channel by the Allegheny marks. A telegram from Oil City reported heavy rains, and the Allegheny rising,with five feet six inches in the channel. The weather yesterday was cloudy, with frequent showers of rain, and every indication that it will continue for some time.

The Argosy got in from Cincinnati about one o'clock yesterday, with an excellent trip, having among other items a considerable amount of cotton. She leaves to-day as usual, at noon, and she will doubtless have a good trip out. Captain Vandergrift and clerk Scott, are progressive steamboatmen, and know how to conduct business in a packet trade.

The Glasgow, from St. Louis, arrived last evening, and the Kate Robinson, from the same point, is among the first boats due. The Kate has been absent some time,having made a trip to New Orleans and back, and then from Cincinnati to St. Louis and return. Captain Andy Bears has charge of the office.

The Lorena left for St. Louis last evening with a good trip, having about all the freight she could take and full of passengers. The Glendale, if she did not get off last night, will leave early this forenoon, with one of the best trips of the season.

The Echo, from Oil City, arrived and the Urlida cleared for that point last evening.

The Columbia, Capt. Reed, is filling up steadily for the Upper Mississippi, and will be the first boat out for that point. Here is an opportunity not every day offered, as she goes through, and freight will not have to be reshipped, and passengers will not be obliged to change boats. Messrs. Russell and Sulman are still associated together in the office.

The Ezra Porter, Capt. J. H. Porter, is the regular Saturday packet for Cincinnati. The importer, Capt. Noss, is now in turn for St. Louis, and will be the next boat out.

An Evansville paper, of Saturday, says: Captain Hartupee, one of the owners of the Great Republic, was in the city yesterday, having arrived by the Stradler. He informs us that the Republic made a run of seventy-five miles, coming up, in five hours; and between New Orleans and Vicksburg she made one run of fifteen miles in fifty-two minutes. She reached Cairo on Wednesday night, and proceeded to St. Louis. She deranged some of her machinery on her way up.

We learn from the Aurora (Ind.,) Commercial that the "low boat Sampson stopped at our wharf last evening, and took in tow a barge laden with 2200 coal oil barrels, shipped to Pittsburgh by Mr. H. Nebrugee, of Dillsborough."

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Saturday, says: The rise continues in the river here. The Kaw and other tributaries of the Missouri are at flood hight. The Savanna, with two barges in tow, will arrive here to-morrow from Dubuque, with 1,000 tons of produce. Four steamers left here for the Missouri river, having a number of passengers from Belle Vernon, which arrived this morning from Pittsburgh.

Quite a lively time is expected between the steamer Deer Lodge and St. Johns, now on their way to Fort Benton. The St. Johns was the first boat last season to reach the fort, the Deer Lodge being second. The Deer Lodge left St. Louis last Saturday and the St. Johns on Wednesday, and Captain Mike Ohlman, of the St. Johns is confident of his ability to catch up with the D. L.

The steamer J. C. Swon is to be dismantled at St. Louis. The boilers and engines will be taken out, when the hull and cabin will be towed to Grafton, Illinois, to be used as a wharfboat.

The Vicksburg Herald, of the 7th, says: The Great Republic made another mail last evening, having left New Orleans Friday morning. Captain Donaldson, her commander, says she will make twenty-four hours faster time from New Orleans to Cairo than the Ruth, which we are inclined to doubt.

The Memphis Appeal says: The Messenger, Captain Dean, passed up last night with a good passenger trip and nearly 300 tons of freight. We are unofficially advised to do Captain Dean an injustice some time ago; we take pleasure in correcting it, and only waited thus long that we might do it while he was in port. We are assured that Captain Dean was not in command of the Messenger in 1864, and our reference to the flag was therefore an error. Our informant was incorrect about the language used when speaking of the losses incurred at this point, and no reflection whatever was made upon our merchats. We believe Capt. Dean to be too good an officer to be other than a gentleman.

The Louisville Democrat, of Sunday, says: The towboat Eagle came in from Pittsburgh yesterday, with a large consignment coal for N. W. Ellsworth. The Eagle started for home again, but broke some of her machinery, and had to return to our wharf again to go up for repairs.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of Sunday, says: Captain James Sheedden left for St. Louis on last night's train. Captain Sheedden will probably assume command of the natty Nora on his return here. John kennedy, chief engineer of the Westmoreland, arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday. The Westmoreland, Captain Evans, departs for the same destination to-morrow. The Nora is a list of the contents of a "short" box which a certain steamboat was called upon to pay for: 50 lbs allspice, 5 mats cassia, 10 lbs cassinuggs, 1 gross blacking, 12 box Limburg cheese, 38 pairs men's shoes, 10,000 cigars, 1 gross honey-dew tobacco, 100 bales Kinikinick, 2 gross smoking tobacco and a load of onions. The owner of the lost box produced his invoices for the contents and demanded instant payment, which, of course, was not complied with. Upon an investigation it was found that the articles claimed had been stowed away in a box Limburg cheese. Capt. McClure, the proprietor of the McClure House, in Wheeling, is engaged in the erection of an addition to his hotel premises for supplying the hotel. The Sherman yesterday reshipped fifty tons of Pittsburgh freight on the Kate Robinson, which steamer left last evening with a fair trip.

The Gazette, of Monday, says: Commodore James S. Wise, Superintendent of the Nashville Packet Company, is in Washington City with an eye after the Cincinnati Postoffice. A telegram received yesterday says the President will send his name into the Senate to-day for confirmation. The Commodore is an energetic business man, and would make a capital Postmaster.
